Fuji Loyalty Program

Looking for a way to leverage Fuji's well deserved reputation for quality and reliability with your customers who already own a Fuji CR? WMI can help your customer move to a new Fuji ES DR with a $2,000 rebate from Fuji and WMI. Call for details.

Fuji AQRO Portable

The AQRO has been earning a solid reputation for its flexibility. Coupled with an FDR ES Cesium panel, it delivers high image quality at the lowest dose. The AQRO is now also available for Veterinary applications.

Fuji GL

The Fuji GL continues to set the standard for long length imaging. The GL is unparalleled in versatility pDynamic Visualization II and optional Virtual Gridroviding "nose to toes" imaging capability. Dynamic Visualization II and optional Virtual Grid take image quality to a new level.

eVUE PACS

Our dealers and their customers are continuing to see why eVUE PACS is the best option for image storage and management now and into the future. Whether you start with our Entry or Onsite you'll always have the option of adding cloud storage and web access without having to buy new hardware.

Windows 10 Upgrades

Microsoft has announced that support of Windows 7 will end in January of 2020. As there will be no more security updates these systems will not be HIPPA compliant. WMI can provide pre-staged FDX upgrades from Fuji at a very reasonable price. Upgrade your exiting IIP console and get improved image quality as well.

We've Got You Covered

For the end user, buying a new panel is only the first step to providing consistent high quality images. Retaining a qualified service provider and choosing the appropriate protection program are just as important. WMI has two great programs to protect your Fuji panels. Simple drop protection can help defer the expense of an unexpected drop, while Panel Protection Plus provides an affordable complete cost of ownership option. Designed for customers who just can't afford be to "down", Panel Protection Plus provides instant replacement for failed panels, whatever the cause.
